

PROMISING EMPLOYERS

Values-aligned and strengths-based recruitment leads to optimal team performance, peak staff engagement and improved attrition rates. Promising Potential's rigorous applicant screening process and strong employer partnerships ensure that candidates are ideally suited to their role and the unique culture of their new employer.

Promising Potential use a proven strengths-identification method that harnesses qualitative objective data as well as our industry and recruitment experience to ensure that candidates are ideally matched to role and company profiling - leading to longevity of employment.

Promising Potential will ensure proposed applicants' core values closely associate with the company's and that a similar ethos is apparent.

The applicant's key strengths will be assessed to facilitate an ideal match with those the company is seeking; recognising this is fluid.

To ensure Promising Potential can deliver on our purpose we source applicants throughout Australia and more broadly internationally.
